

India does not have primary mercury resources. Mercury and mercury compounds are imported from various countries for allowable uses. State Pollution Control Boards through consent mechanism give permissions for storage of mercury or its compounds.